

I find it hard to believe that any politician would want all the media outlets in a single area to be controlled by one corporation. If that corporation doesn't like you, you'd never get any good press.